

The Development of Love Potion

This began many years ago, with an intended trip to Europe.

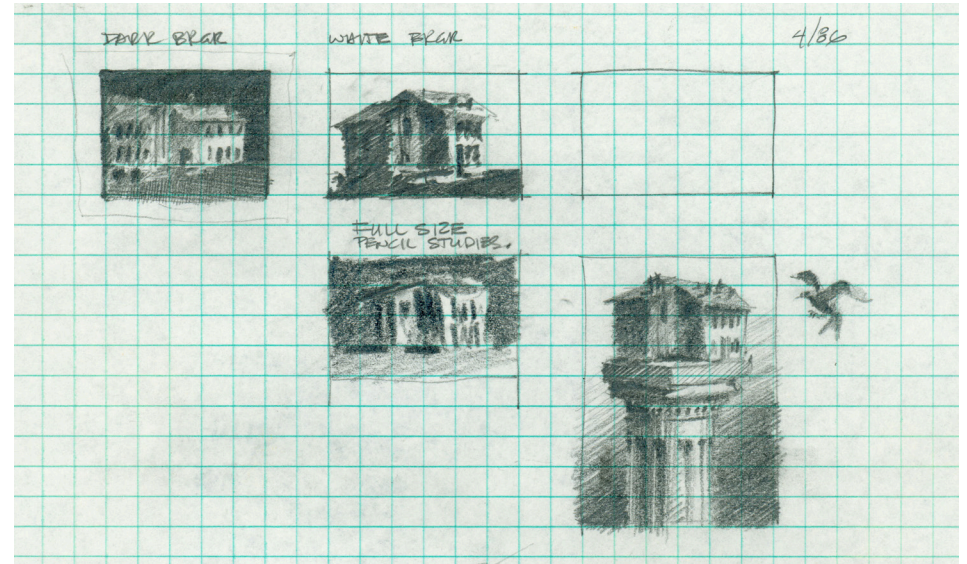

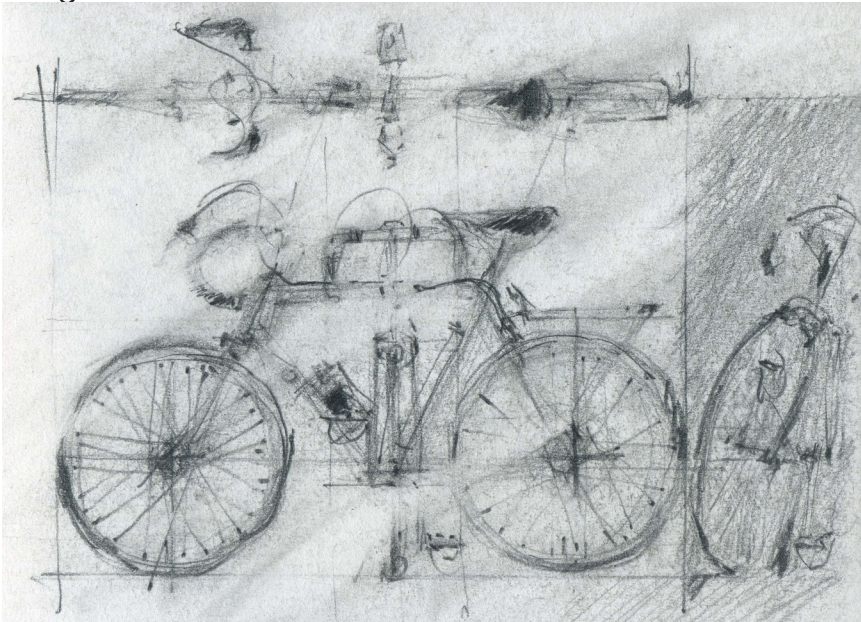

I thought I might know where this idea came from, as the source, not that it should or can be accounted for in any way, except as the condensation of the "mist".

I started to try to get student interested in a bicycle trip through Europe to study art and Architecture, so I made a new poster (airbrush and silkscreens) each week and put them on the bulletin board:

Sketches trying to associate Our School with the study of Architecture and the bicycle, note the column and the Vico Morcote building.

Next I did one column and a bicycle.

I had a dream, but it is later that I awoke and drew the image:

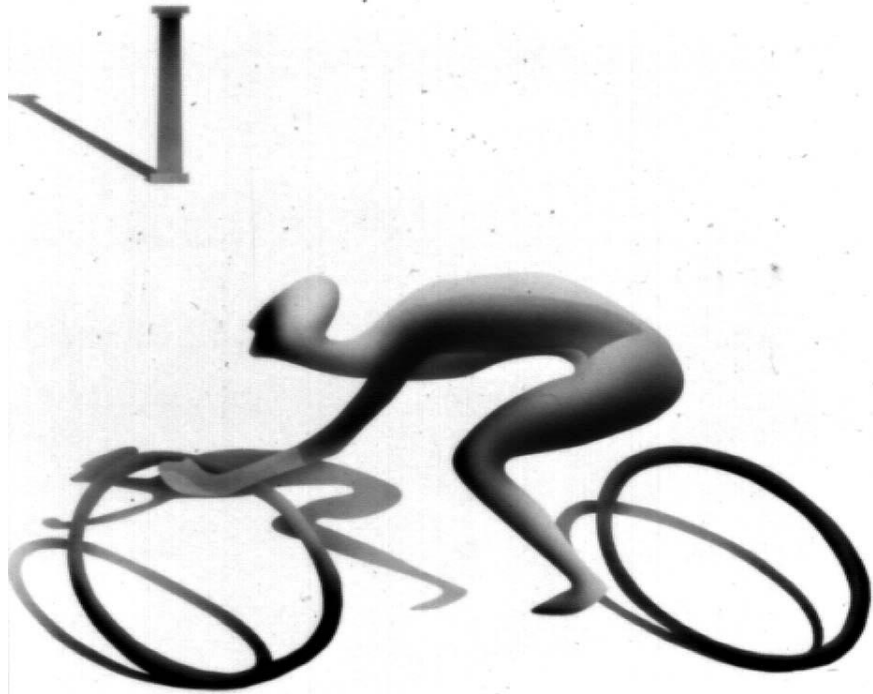

Here is the first one:
